It is charged that Shoemaker was intoxicated when his Ford Sedan skidded and overturned twice on Solt Hill. McCarty, his brother-in-law, suffered a broken neck, dying instantly. Shoemaker was slightly injured. Three pints of whiskey, which authorities claim Shoemaker took out of his car, were found near the scene of the wreck.

Motion Picture Director is Charged With Theft of Ted Lewis' Clothing

Brother of Sally O'Neill and Mollie O'Day Arrested in New York.

A motion picture director, the brother of two film stars, is under arrest in New York City on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods as the result of a complaint by Ted Lewis, Circleville's greatest contribution to the amusement world, according to news dispatches from the metropolis.

The man under arrest is Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Mollie O'Day, motion picture actresses, who was arrested in New York at the request of Sheriff William Traeger, of Los Angeles, whose telegram said Noonan recently was indicted on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods.

ROBBED WHILE ABSENT
The complaint was made by Ted Lewis after he found that a quantity of his clothing, valued at $6,000, had been stolen while he was absent in the east. Ted recently completed an all-talking picture, "Is Everybody Happy?" for Warner Brothers.

Noonan, who said he was a son of the late supreme court justice, Thomas F. Noonan, of New Jersey, denied the charges and blamed his difficulties on an unnamed Hollywood actor and studio attaché, who, he said, asked him to keep the property he is charged with stealing and which was found in his room. He said he was told it was too late to take the property back to the studio. Subsequently, Noonan said, he learned that his name had been used in selling other property.

FUR COATS IN LOOT
The property he was charged with having stolen consisted of fur coats and costumes Noonan told police.

The arrest was made at the home of Capt. Frank Hay, an aviator, in Hempstead Long Island where Noonan was traced by detectives who learned that he recently had been discharged from St. Mark's Hospital. Noonan was the technical director of "The Patent Leather Kid," up.

FEW HUNTERS GET LICENSES

Pickaway-co squirrels are going to have a good chance of emerging unscathed from the open hunting season against them, if the number of hunters issued licenses by Clerk of Courts Ferd Pickens means anything.

Monday was the first day of the hunting season for squirrels and ducks and only 100 licenses had been issued by Pickens. The oldest hunter to obtain a license was Charles C. Lewis, 75, of Circleville. The youngest minor to take out a license is Miller Dunkel, 15, of Circleville Route 4. The squirrel season closes Oct. 1. The season for wild ducks and geese ends Dec. 31.

Mrs. Frank Ervin of Madisonville, O. was a visitor in Circleville Saturday. Mrs. Ervin was formerly Miss Edith Wolff of this city, has not been in town for 34 years.

MANY FLOORS ARE SHIPPED

Livestock Sent From Here To Markets In August Valued
At $102,631.29.

The summary of the financial report for the month of August presented to the board of directors of the Pickaway Livestock Co-operative Association Saturday evening, Sept. 14, by H. J. Briggs, manager, showed that 55 floors, representing a value of $102,631.29, was handled through the association.

These shipments were comprised of 2,254 hogs, 232 fat cattle, 284 feeder cattle, 141 veal calves and 330 sheep. Fifty per cent of this volume moved direct from the feeder through this organization to the packer. The report shows a substantial gain over the business transacted a year ago when a total of 49 floors was handled through the local association.

This result is just in line with the increases which are being obtained through co-operative endeavor throughout the corn belt, declares H. S. Lewis, county agent. Livestock farmers have found that they can build throughout co-operative effort, an agency which in addition to providing economic merchandizing of their livestock, reflect back to the producer all savings which may accrue through his co-operative marketing service.

The Pickaway Livestock Co-operative is a servant of the livestock producers throughout the county. It is definitely affiliated with the Ohio Livestock Cooperative, The National Order Buying Co., and the National Livestock Producers, which organizations transact a business of over 150 million dollars annually. Market information methods of production and more economic returns reflected through cooperative effort presents a challenge to every livestock producer who wishes to improve his income, Lewis says.

(BI International News Service.) Death shadowed Ohio's week-end traffic and today 12 persons are dead and many others are suffering from serious injuries, a check-up revealed at noon. Two youths were killed in an airplane crash near Fostoria and one man was run down and fatally injured by a train at West Liberty, bringing the week-end accident toll to 15.

Cleveland, the largest city in the state, reported four deaths. Otto Kubek, 23, was almost instantly killed when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile in West Cleveland early today. Chester Saar, 12, was run down and killed by an auto, and an unidentified man was found dead in East Cleveland, apparently the victim of a hit-and-run motorist. The fourth victim was Frank Colek, 35, of Avon, who was killed in an accident in Lakewood, a suburb of the metropolis.

Congressmen Now Swayed by Public Opinion, S. T. Rife Tells School

Judgment and Conscience Forgotten By Solons, Educator Declares.

National constitution week in Circleville received an enthusiastic beginning Monday morning at the Circleville high school where S. T. Rife gave a stirring address on the subject of the constitution at the assembly in the school auditorium. According to the faculty, the assembly was one of the best at the school.

Mr. Rife, who is an authority on the constitution, lectured in a manner that easily formulated for the pupils the idea of the observance of this week. He spoke of the constitution as a charming organization, to correspond with the changing government. He discussed dual citizenship, and the change in guaranteed personal liberty, and quoted former Chief Justice Marshall.

CHANGE IN POLICY
One of the salient points of the talk were those on the change in representatives' policy. "Formerly," said Mr. Rife "Representatives acted according to their judgment and conscience; now it appears that they are influenced by public opinion." This is one of many comments on the change in the government and its constitution in late years that Mr. Rife stressed. There were a number of others as important.

Another part of the chapel services which particularly made a hit with the students was the violin playing of Dwight Weiler which held them spell-bound for several numbers. When he finished, the applause soared to cheers that were only quieted when Dwight consented to play more. Among the selections were "Cantzonetta," by Godard, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," "Serenade," by Pierne and extra's from "Thais." He was ably accompanied at the piano by Elizabeth Roundhouse.

CONCERT PLAYER
Dwight is himself a graduate of Circleville high school with the class of 1924, and also of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. For

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Four Cincinnati Residents Injured, Two Seriously In Wreckage.

Four persons were injured, two seriously, in a freak automobile accident Monday noon when two automobiles, a brick house, an iron fence and a curb stone were damaged at Washington and Main-sts.

The injured are:
Fred W. Hoewischer, 66, 1075 Overlook-ave, Price Hill, Cincinnati, fractured right shoulder, lacerations about face, and probable internal injuries.

Alice Hoewischer, 25, Price Hill, left leg fractured, cut and bruised. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Witte, Price Hill, cut and bruised.

The accident occurred when the Nash sedan of Witte, who was driving east on Main-st, accompanied by his wife and Hoewischer and his daughter, and an Essex coach of Mrs. Edith Rose, 958 S. Washington-st, driving north on Washington-st, collided.

Witte said he speeded up his car in an effort to avoid a collision when the crash appeared imminent. However, the auto of Mrs. Rose struck the right rear fender of his car, throwing the machine out of control.

RUNS THROUGH FENCE
The Nash sedan ran over the curb, ploughed through an iron fence and crashed into the brick residence of Leonard Barthelmas. The impact tore a hole in the foundation of the house, knocked out the frame of a cellar window and threw a bay window askew.

Mrs. Minnie Heise, in the cellar at the time, narrowly escaped injury from flying bricks and for a few minutes, she said, she thought the house had been blown up by a gas explosion.

OUT OF INDUSTRIAL
The injured were taken into the Barthelmas residence and Dr. O. H. Dunton was summoned. They were removed to the office of Dr. D. V. Courtright, where their injuries are dressed.

Miss Hoewischer, who is suffering from a fractured left knee, just recently was discharged from a hospital where she had undergone an operation on that leg. Mrs. Witte is suffering internally from shock.

The machine of Mrs. Rose was damaged only slightly, while that of Witte was badly wrecked. Neither Mrs. Rose nor her sister, who accompanied her, was injured.

CUT IN CORN CROP IS SEEN

Pickaway-Co Farmers Warned
To Use Care In Harvesting Their Grain.

A report from the crop reporting board of Washington, D. C. issued recently shows that corn prospects made a sharp decrease during August in practically every section of the country, according to H. S. Lewis, county agent. The condition of corn September 1, was reported as 67.9 per cent of normal or 11 points lower than the condition of corn September 1, was 1, and 10 1-2 points below the September 1 condition a year ago. The crop has suffered more from drought throughout the summer than had been anticipated.

The September 1 forecast indicates a prospective production in the eastern belt about 16 per cent below last years harvest, while in the western corn belt States it was 17 per cent less. Estimates of the Ohio corn crop condition as of September 1, 1929 showed the crop to be 72 per cent of normal, thus carrying a decrease of 9 per cent under the ten year average as of September 1.

A review of these figures, Lewis says should indicate the importance to Pickaway-co farmers of using all means in harvesting and storing their crop to secure a good per cent of merchantable corn.

Pickaway-co farmers receive approximately 17.9 per cent of their farm crop income from the corn crop.

RIFE TO SPEAK

S. T. Rife will speak this evening before the Circleville Kiwanis club on the Constitution of the United States. The meeting will follow the regular weekly meeting at the Hanley tea room.

A motion picture director, the brother of two film stars, is under arrest in New York City on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods as the result of a complaint by Ted Lewis, Circleville's greatest contribution to the amusement world, according to news dispatches from the metropolis.

The man under arrest is Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Mollie O'Day, motion picture actresses, who was arrested in New York at the request of Sheriff William Traeger, of Los Angeles, whose telegram said Noonan recently was indicted on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods.

ASK RECHECK OF PHONE CO.

Public Utilities Commission
Members Want New Accounting Valuation.

The Citizens Telephone Co., with exchanges at Circleville, Ashville, Laurelville and Williamsport, is among the 30 independent telephone companies in Ohio for which a complete recheck and new accounting study of their property valuations has been ordered.

The order was made by Roscoe C. McColloch and Frank W. Geiger of the public utilities commission following a conference with Gov. Meyers Y. Cooper.

These independent companies have increased rate cases pending before the commission and the increased rates now are being collected under bond under the old Pence law, subject to refund if the rate finally fixed is lower than that being charged.

The proposed rate increases here are being opposed by the city of Circleville, the Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Bureau. Experts employed by the city, the company and the state have made three different valuations of the Citizens Co.'s property. Those made by the company and by the commission's experts have been protested by the city as being too high.

The public utilities commission as now constituted has not heard much evidence in the pending rate cases and therefore has directed Ira E. Sprankle, superintendent of investigation, to make the check-up.

Automobiles Take 12 Lives In Ohio Over Week-end; Planes Claim Two

Four Deaths Are Reported
From Cleveland In Listing of Victims.

(B) International News Service.)

Death shadowed Ohio's week-end traffic and today 12 persons are dead and many others are suffering from serious injuries, a check-up revealed at noon.

Two youths were killed in an airplane crash near Fostoria and one man was run down and fatally injured by a train at West Liberty, bringing the week-end accident toll to 15.

Cleveland, the largest city in the state, reported four deaths. Otto Kubek, 23, was almost instantly killed when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile in West Cleveland early today. Chester Saar, 12, was run down and killed by an autoist, and an unidentified man was found dead in East Cleveland, apparently the victim of a hit-and-run motorist. The fourth victim was Frank Colek, 35, of Avon, who was killed in an accident in Lakewood, a suburb of the metropolis.

BABE IS KILLED
Mrs. Mary Rose, of Andover, was killed and three other persons suffered hurts when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by another car, which failed to stop. The accident occurred near Andover. Rev. M. Leonard, of Ashtabula, was among those injured.

A baby only six weeks old was killed near Dayton when his father's automobile careened into a ditch. It was Francisco Hernandez. An accident near Toledo claimed the life of Mrs. Minnie B. Sass, of Holland, and caused injuries to three members of her family.

Some speculation surrounded the death of Moritz Gutskunst, 80, near Cincinnati. His lifeless body was found in his wrecked car which had struck a tree. Either heart failure or internal injuries caused his death, authorities stated.

HIT-SKIP VICTIM
William Krabs, 70, of Curtice, was killed by a "hit-skip" motorist there. Martin Ontko, 14, died at Marblehead and Walter Hurst, 5, succumbed at Marion as the result of other accidents.

Edward Ricketts, 80, of West Liberty, was the train victim. He was killed while walking across the right-of-way.

The youths killed in the Fostoria plane crash were Melvin Hawkins, 17, and Michael Kimes, 23.

CUT IN CORN CROP IS SEEN

Pickaway-Co Farmers Warned
To Use Care In Harvesting
Their Grain.

A report from the crop reporting board of Washington, D. C. issued recently shows that corn prospects made a sharp decrease during August in practically every section of the country, according to H. S. Lewis, county agent. The condition of corn September 1, was reported as 67.9 per cent of normal or 11 points lower than the condition of corn September 1, was 1, and 10 1-2 points below the September 1 condition a year ago. The crop has suffered more from drought throughout the summer than had been anticipated.

The September 1 forecast indicates a prospective production in the eastern belt, about 16 per cent below last years harvest, while in the western corn belt States it was 17 per cent less. Estimates of the Ohio corn crop condition as of September 1, 1929 showed the crop to be 72 per cent of normal, thus carrying a decrease of 9 per cent under the ten year average as of September 1. A review of these figures, Lewis says, should indicate the importance to Pickaway-co farmers of using all means in harvesting and storing their crop to secure a good per cent of merchantable corn.

Pickaway-co farmers receive approximately 17.9 per cent of their farm crop income from the corn crop.

S. T. Rife will speak this evening before the Circleville Kiwanis club on the Constitution of the United States. The meeting will follow the regular weekly meeting at the Hanley tea room.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Four Cincinnati Residents Injured, Two Seriously In Wreckage.

Four persons were injured, two seriously, in a freak automobile accident Monday noon when two automobiles, a brick house, an iron fence and a curb stone were damaged at Washington and Main-sts. The injured are:

Fred W. Hoewischer, 65, 1075 Overlook-ave, Price Hill, Cincinnati, fractured right shoulder, lacerations about face, and probable internal injuries.

Alice Hoewischer, 25, Price Hill, left leg fractured, cut and bruised. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Witte, Price Hill, cut and bruised.

The accident occurred when the Nash sedan of Witte, who was driving east on Main-st, accompanied by his wife and Hoewischer and his daughter, and an Essex coach of Mrs. Edith Rose, 958 S. Washington-st, driving north on Washington-st, collided.

Witte said he speeded up his car in an effort to avoid a collision when the crash appeared imminent. However, the auto of Mrs. Rose struck the right rear fender of his car, throwing the machine out of control.

RUNS THROUGH FENCE
The Nash sedan ran over the curb, ploughed through an iron fence and crashed into the brick residence of Leonard Barthelmas.

The impact tore a hole in the foundation of the house, knocked out the frame of a cellar window and threw a bay window askew.

Mrs. Minnie Heise, in the cellar at the time, narrowly escaped injury from flying bricks and for a few minutes, she said, she thought the house had been blown up by a gas explosion.

OUT OF HOSPITAL
The injured were taken into the Barthelmas residence and Dr. O. H. Dunton was summoned. They were removed to the office of Dr. D. V. Courtwright, where their injuries are dressed.

Miss Hoewischer, who is suffering from a fractured left knee, just recently was discharged from a hospital where she had undergone an operation on that leg. Mrs. Witte is suffering intensely from shock.

The machine of Mrs. Rose was damaged only slightly, while that of Witte was badly wrecked. Neither Mrs. Rose nor her sister, who accompanied her, was injured.

"I WASTED SIXTY-FIVE YEARS," SAYS CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Spinago Puts Ninety-one Year Old Ex-Soldier Back In Shape After Suffering Ever Since Close of Civil War.

Free from misery and suffering for the first time since the Civil War! Sixty-five years of pain ended by just three bottles of Spinago. That is the record of this wonder tonic in the case of Isaac Grabill, ninety-one year old veteran of the Civil War who resides between Circleville and Chillicothe on Rural Route No. 6.

ISAAC GRABILL

In the words of Mr. Grabill: "Spinago went to the base of all my troubles in short order and quickly eliminated the cause of my suffering. For sixty-five years, ever since I left the Army at the close of the war, constant and persistent indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation took all the joy out of life. My daily meals, instead of being a pleasure were a duty for me. I took nourishment only to exist because the terrible gas pains after eating and tired feeling caused by stagnant waste in my body made me dread my meals."

"Exposure during the war made my body susceptible to rheumatism and my weakened condition caused by digestive ailments gave an opening to rheumatic troubles. These pains constantly tore at my limbs, keeping me in agony most of the time."

"I didn't sit back and admit I was beaten during all these years. One after one, I tried every medicine I came across and one after one they failed. With each failure my hope died farther down until I

VIENNA, Sept. 16.—A large section of the Austrian republic is an armed camp today as the result of hostility between political factions and government and rural provinces jealously fighting to retain many of their pre-war prerogatives.

Federal Chancellor Steuerritz is taking vigorous steps to maintain peace and prevent further fighting.

became desperate and despondent, fully believing that for me there was no cure. "But I had reckoned without Spinago. This medicine was recommended to me last spring, and I decided to take one more trial. You can well imagine my surprise and joy when I noticed a marked improvement after the first bottle. Two bottles and my stomach troubles became only intermittent. Three bottles and all my ailments vanished. No more indigestion and dyspepsia. My food digests easily and my meals are again a pleasure. No more constipation. All waste matter is quickly and completely eliminated from my body. And best of all no more rheumatic pains. I have the full use of my arms and legs now and I can truthfully say that at ninety-one years of age I feel better and more fit than I have since the old army days. And I have Spinago to thank for this wonderful change in me."

Every day hundreds of residents of this vicinity learn by personal experience that indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, stomach, liver and bowel troubles, rheumatism and neuritis simply can't withstand the efficient and powerful action of this master medicine. Every one of the elements contained in Spinago serves a purpose; the cascara to clean and keep open the bowels; the Spinach to supply to the body the necessary iron and to purify and enrich the blood, etc. And with all these components working hand in hand it is little wonder that this new and practical tonic, whose most important ingredient is spinach in concentrated form, can perform feats which seem almost like miracles.

Spinago is sold and guaranteed in Circleville by The Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. and by all other good druggists in this vicinity.—Adv.

A NEW TIRE
The Miller Test Fleet couldn't wear out

WE'VE just received our first shipment of the remarkable new Miller Deluxe Balloon—the tire the Miller Test Fleet couldn't wear out.

Nowhere on earth does a tire get a better chance to show what it's made of than on the wheels of these speeding test cars.

You look for the best roads. They look for the worst. You drive fast sometimes. They never let up. Over the abrasive road surfaces of Southwest Texas went the new Miller Deluxe Balloon. Averaging 55 miles per hour—600 miles per day for months. And they haven't yet discovered the limits of this new tire's strength and stamina.

New - In Every Step of Its Manufacture

Miller has turned a new page in tire history. Built a revolutionary tire for today's car and today's need.

Puncture and Blowout Hazard Practically Eliminated

The new, massive tread has several pounds of extra rubber for greater thickness. It's a 6-ply tire of course, and that's not all. There is more rubber between the plies—stronger cotton in the plies. Thus—internal friction has been done away with. The puncture and blowout hazard practically eliminated.

Miller Deluxe Balloon

For those who want the best balloon tire money can buy and who realize that the best is always the cheapest in the end.

For those who want thousands of extra miles with complete freedom from road delays.

For those who want an unusual degree of safety and non-skid protection in the tires they drive.

For those who want tires built to withstand the destructive tread wear that today's driving and traffic conditions impose.

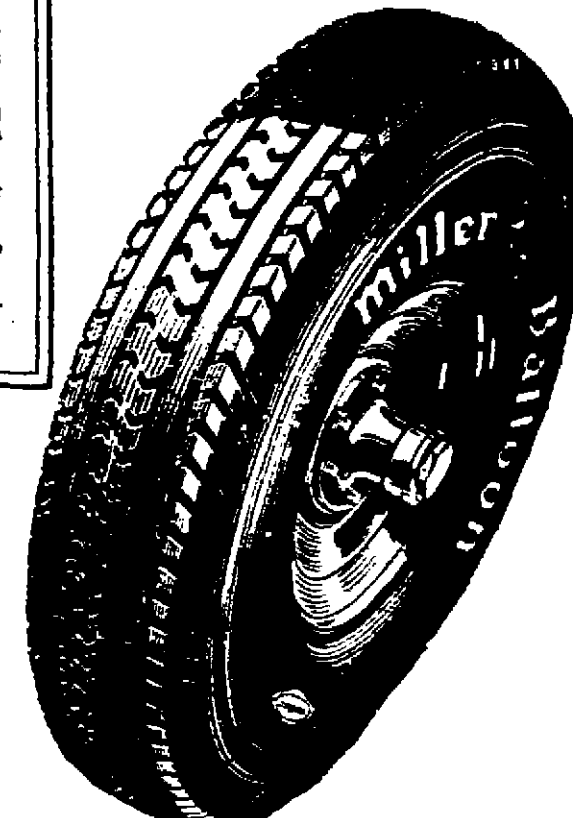

For those who drive fast and show their tires no mercy.

For those who want a tire in which the puncture hazard is practically eliminated.

For those who want America's Most Beautiful Tire.

Grips the Road and Resists Skidding

The distinctive new tread design is the result of long scientific study and test to produce a design with greater road grip and non-skid quality. The sharp-edged gear blocks run diagonal and crosswise to the direction in which the tire rolls on the road. The tire grips the road. Here is a safe tire.

A Tire of Real Economy

The Miller Deluxe Balloon costs more to build than ordinary tires. It costs more to buy. But in final cost—the only real test of a tire—it will actually amaze you. We believe it is the most economical tire that has ever been built.

THE NEW PAPER MONEY

The new small size currency has been favorably received. People complain of the mixtures of new and old money, and it is inconvenient to have two sizes of such currency in one's pocket at the same time. If it shall be the government policy to use the old bills until they wear out, this inconvenience will last some time.

But after the old bills are gone, the convenience of the smaller currency will be appreciated. It might help some if people would pass along the old bills as rapidly as possible, to hasten the time when they shall be finally called in.

Much fine work is now being done in designing the country's money, and Uncle Sam passes out some nice looking bills to his children. The kind of currency circulating from hand to hand tells foreigners a good deal about the type of people who issue it. Crude, designed money makes a country look raw and uncivilized.

Handsome looking notes and coins suggest a country that has reached a high level of artistic and mechanical skill. Every printer who takes pride in turning out good work, finds pleasure in receiving from his government specimens of currency that conform to good artistic and typographical standards.

Smaller money means that our bills can be kept in smaller purses, which may be a bit less expensive and will not be so bulky to carry. The savings made by the government by reducing the size of the money will be a considerable item. Such an economy may not be much in proportion to our population, but the government should set the example of avoiding wasteful methods everywhere.

THE NEW ARRIVAL

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN has been persuaded to join a gang of which the "Big Guy" is the leader. Bernice Veressi, a "gang girl," is in love with Eddie, but he becomes disgusted and breaks away. Boarding a freight train, he makes his escape to Virginia, where he meets Marian Thorndike. She and Eddie help Penfield Paradine, a Southern aristocrat, who has been stricken with paralysis, and Eddie finds shelter under Paradine's roof. Penfield takes a turn for the worse, and Marian comes to inquire for him. Uncle Tobe, the negro servant, tells Eddie that "Miss Marian isn't engaged, but she has no time for strange Yankees." Eddie realizes the difference between himself and these people.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.
HE beheld the head and face of a young man in his middle twenties. So far as he could tell, it was just an ordinary countenance. He looked about the same as anybody else—his forehead was rather square and the brows above the blue eyes were black like the thick hair neatly brushed back on his head. But behind that face—what kind of a mind did he have? Was there anything in him capable of development, or was he just tough and ignorant and impudent?

She, Marian Thorndike, had looked at that face and he wondered if she had found it good or evil—or, worse, totally uninteresting?

Penfield Paradine, that evening, insisted that Eddie dine downstairs. "You've been guarding my sick room off and on all day like a watch dog," the older man said with a feeble, courteous smile. "I'm not going to have you eat your dinner off a tray up here as though you were an invalid yourself. Tobe is going to fix you a real dinner in the dining room."

Sitting alone at the broad expanse of the dining table Eddie was acutely conscious of a spirit of elegance that lingered in the room, from old, all but forgotten days. Tobe had lit four candles in silver sticks; the china was finer than any Eddie had ever seen before but it was cracked and nicked from clumsy handling; the knives and forks were heavy silver. Shadows loomed in the room and there was a burnished gloss from the wide sideboard. Vacant chairs were all around him—had the table been extended with extra leaves the room could have accommodated, almost a banquet.

There moved across his mind a succession of restaurant pictures wherein he had eaten from porcelain topped tables, or from cloths spotted with red wine and drops of gravy. Frowsy waitresses came back to his vision; menus greasy-stained and stuck in little metal racks. He could see his fellow patrons eating with clattering tableware and pale coffee drooled in thick saucers.

Yes, this was a better, more dignified way of living than any he had ever known. He would eat carefully; like a gentleman, he would make no noise. As old Tobe told the dishes before him Eddie chose his implements with care. Amid such surroundings it seemed impolite to be careless of little things.

His mind began playing him tricks. Somehow, he could fancy Marian Thorndike sitting with him. An understanding came to him that eating was something more than filling the stomach; it could be a social pleasure, a time for aesthetic realizations. It might represent an attitude toward life—an association of intellect and affection and charm. The image of Marian Thorndike before him filled him with a glowing, warm delight. He invented a new personality for himself—he was still the same Eddie Regan but, mysteriously, he had gathered deeper things to himself, a new knowing confidence to wipe out any feeling of inferiority. They would be equals and she would realize that the man she had married was a civilized being. They would talk about books and things like that. They would discuss romance and would be understood. They would be madly in love with each other forever. He was unaware of what he ate.

With an effort he shook off such never been known to hurry in his life.

When Marian Thorndike came in the mid-afternoon she and Eddie sat together for a while in Penfield Paradine's room.

"It has been sweet of you, child, to come and see me this day," said the diminishing voice.

"Maybe if I had married years ago I might have had a daughter like you, or a son like this young man. Life must go on but I've done nothing myself to keep it going. I've been a broken link in the chain. When I go I leave nothing behind that will live after me. Just a few acres, a house and furniture to be sold and scattered."

"If you know of any relatives anywhere that we could send for—" Marian tried to say.

"There are none . . . nobody."

Judge Jones Reads the Will to Eddie and Marian.

starting to give expression to the restless impulse piling up inside him. It was difficult to decide what kind of work was available; he knew nothing whatever about farming, but he decided to make inquiries of Tobe tomorrow. Another day dawned.

Tobe aroused him from sleep. "You bettah git up, Mr. Regan; Marse Penfield looks lak he's haddly alive."

It was true—the stricken man was hanging to life by a thin thread. His body seemed more wasted than ever before. Physically, he had ceased to exist; what remained was a mere residue of intelligence. Behind his eyes, paradoxically, he was even more alive than ever. But the claim of approaching death was upon him so visibly that no one could doubt. "I feel today like a candle that flickers up brightly before it goes out," he told Eddie in a different voice, "but I don't mind—there is no pain. Just weariness."

Melancholy shrouded Eddie Regan. There was a definite regret that he had not known Penfield Paradine for a longer time. He was drawn to this spirit that was ebbing away. Despite the difference in their ages, Eddie knew—his instinct told him—that there could have been a bond between them, a friendship between man and man that took to account no difference in ages or birth or station.

"We'll get hold of a doctor right away," Eddie said, his voice muffled. The eyes that looked up from the bed were steady and clear. Now, at last, Penfield Paradine had neither time nor patience for the conventional activities of such a crisis.

"Hell, young man, I don't want to fool with a doctor pestering me now. Old Tom Tobe can take care of me plenty good enough. I don't expect to bother him or anybody else after today." "If there is anything I can do," Eddie said, brokenly. Penfield Paradine's eyes closed and he spoke with the wisp of a voice. "I am going to make my will. I tell Tobe to fetch old Judge Jones . . ."

The day wore on and word came that old Judge Jones would come sometime before sunset. The judge was an old lawyer who still drove a horse and buggy and he had

GREAT CROWD AT CLIFTONA

Capacity Audiences Hear, Gene, Ford and Glenn At Sunday Show Here.

Six capacity shows, with standing room at a premium, were necessary at the Cliftona theater Sunday when throngs visited Circleville from central and southern Ohio cities to see and hear, Gene, Ford and Glenn, the radio entertainers from station WLW, Cincinnati.

A total of 4,563 persons attended the Cliftona Sunday, the visitors coming from as far as Hamilton, Middletown, Dayton, Delaware, Marion, Wheeling, W. Va., Middleport, Zanesville, Logan, New Lexington and Lancaster.

At the eight o'clock show, the demand to see the radio stars was so great from the visitors from a distance that the operator was ordered to cut out the short subjects. Misunderstanding his order, a portion of the feature picture, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne," was left out. The Cliftona management invites all those who did not see all of the feature to be its guests at either the Monday or Tuesday night showing of "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne," one of the finest all-talking pictures ever booked in the city.

Hans Kraly, famous scenarist of "The Student Prince" and other Ernst Lubitsch hits, has turned to England instead of Germany in his latest story for the screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne," starring Norma Shearer and now playing at the Cliftona theater as an all-talking production. Miss Shearer in the role played on the stage by Ina Claire, and a famous cast, the production is one of the outstanding stage adaptations of the year. It is a dramatic story of modern English life.

Basil Rathbone, famous British stage star, George Barraud, Herbert Bunston, Hedda Hopper, Madeline Seymour, George K. Arthur, Cyril Chadwick and other notable players appear in the cast. Sidney Franklin directed the new play.

BEAUTY'S HOUR

MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

NEW YORK—Three o'clock in the morning may—as the song writers say—mark the rosy dawn of romance.

But 3 o'clock in the afternoon—Sunday afternoon, that is, according to Mme. Helena Rubinstein, famous beauty authority of New York, Paris and London, marks the golden dawn of beauty.

"On that day and at that hour," said Mme. Rubinstein, "women are at their best. For Sunday is a day of rest and relaxation, the day when they are able to obey their own impulses rather than do the things others expect or demand of them. As the human face is a mirror reflecting the inner thoughts of its owner, it is clear why beauty should reach its highest point then."

"Three o'clock of a Sabbath afternoon, moreover, marks the peak. Before that hour the average woman is either sleeping off the effects of a strenuous week or engaged in the performance of her few Sunday tasks. After it, she begins fretting anew over the coming week and the work ahead. At that period, however, she is enthroned on top of the world, intoxicated with the sheer joy of being alive."

This sense of satisfaction, Mme. Rubinstein added, is accelerated by the fact that Sunday is the great "dress up" day of the week.

Famous Comedians Convulse Met Audiences With Capers In "Cocoanuts."

You'll gasp with amazement when you see what Paramount has brought you in "The Cocoanuts," the Marx Brothers' famous Broadway musical comedy hit now on the screen at the Met theater. It's something new; something marvelously entertaining; something that is different from any moving picture you have ever seen, talking or silent.

"The Cocoanuts" is truly the first screen musical comedy. For the first time, the method of musical comedy is brought to the screen to provide a delightful entertainment which you will laugh and sing and talk about for weeks. And through it all, those inimitable foolers, the famous Marx Brothers, keep banging away with their inane, ridiculous, lunatic jesting.

Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo! Who, who has ever seen or heard of them, would ever miss an opportunity to laugh with them again? They are superb and they register just as perfectly on camera and microphone as they ever did on the stage. Those who see "The Cocoanuts" at the Met theater will see the same show as those who saw "The Cocoanuts" during its year run at $6.60 top, on the Broadway stage.

And they'll see and hear more. Irving Berlin, who wrote the original music and lyrics for "The Cocoanuts," contributed the catchy new theme song, "When My Dreams Come True," to the screen presentation. And Mary Eaton, Ziegfeld's scintillating blonde star, and Oscar Shaw, Broadway's favorite leading man, have the romantic leads.

Mysterious Crows

Crows which talk have been found near Weenen in Natal. Their remarks are libelous. They say to the natives of the district: "There will be no rain; you have killed your chief." They have started a first-class scandal about the death of Muzidwaya, once chief of the Mennu, who died of dropsy. The natives are flocking from all the surrounding districts to hear them. The key to the mystery, suggests a Natal paper, is the fact that the crows only speak when a certain head boy is present. There is nothing to prove that they have been corrupted by a Maritzburg parrot.

Death by Sunshine

Sunshine, the great cure-all and life-giver, is a paradox in one case at least. Through the medium of the geranium it spells death to insects.

Insects which are attracted by the leaves of this beautiful plant feast upon them and then drop paralyzed and usually die. Where the sun comes in is indicated by the fact that the poison depends upon the amount of exposure to the sun of the plant, those of longest exposure being deadliest.

This discovery has opened up a new field in the study of insecticides and experiments are being pushed to determine what the death-dealing agent may be.

A NEW TIRE

The Miller Test Fleet couldn't wear out

WE'VE just received our first shipment of the remarkable new Miller Deluxe Balloon—the tire the Miller Test Fleet couldn't wear out.

Nowhere on earth does a tire get a better chance to show what it's made of than on the wheels of these speeding test cars.

You look for the best roads. They look for the worst. You drive fast sometimes. They never let up. Over the abrasive road surfaces of Southwest Texas went the new Miller Deluxe Balloon. Averaging 55 miles per hour—600 miles per day for months. And they haven't yet discovered the limits of this new tire's strength and stamina.

New - In Every Step of Its Manufacture

Miller has turned a new page in tire history. Built a revolutionary tire for today's car and today's need.

Puncture and Blowout Hazard Practically Eliminated

The new, massive tread has several pounds of extra rubber for greater thickness. It's a 6-ply tire of course, and that's not all. There is more rubber between the plies—stronger cotton in the plies. Thus—internal friction has been done away with. The puncture and blowout hazard practically eliminated.

Miller Deluxe Balloon

For those who want the best balloon tire money can buy and who realize that the best is always the cheapest in the end.

For those who want thousands of extra miles with complete freedom from road delays.

For those who want an unusual degree of safety and non-skid protection in the tires they drive.

For those who want tires built to withstand the destructive tread wear that today's driving and traffic conditions impose.

For those who drive fast and show their tires no mercy.

For those who want a tire in which the puncture hazard is practically eliminated.

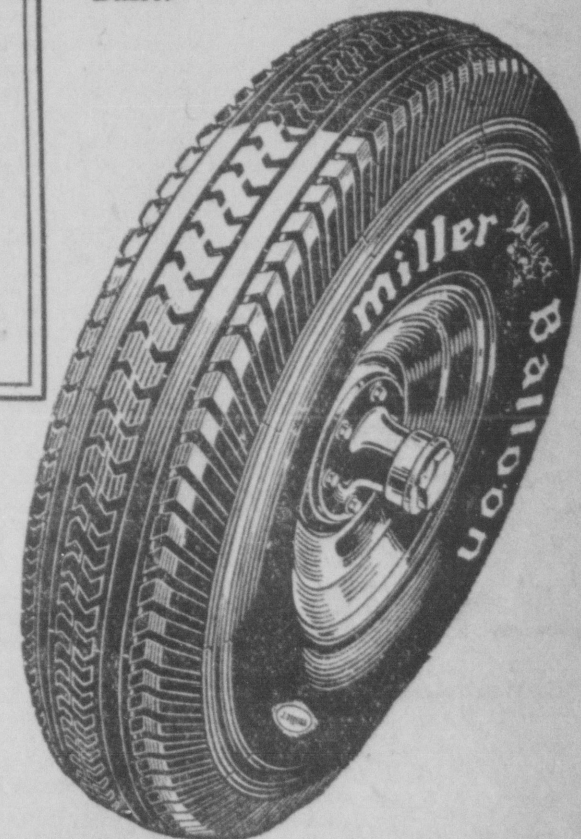

For those who want America's Most Beautiful Tire.

Grips the Road and Resists Skidding

The distinctive new tread design is the result of long scientific study and test to produce a design with greater road grip and non-skid quality. The sharp-edged gear blocks run diagonal and crosswise to the direction in which the tire rolls on the road. The tire grips the road. Here is a safe tire.

A Tire of Real Economy

The Miller Deluxe Balloon costs more to build than ordinary tires. It costs more to buy. But in final cost--the only real test of a tire--it will actually amaze you. We believe it is the most economical tire that has ever been built.

RHEUMATISM IN KNEE IS ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Grateful Lady Finds In Master Medicine First and Only Relief.

MRS. MAE LUCKEMIER.

"For three years I was a victim of rheumatism," said Mrs. Mae Luckemier, 3028 Reading road, Cincinnati, Ohio. "The pains darted from one place to another, finally settling in one knee. I could not attend to my housework. I was not only in terrible pain, but greatly discouraged, for no medicine or treatment did me any good. I gave Konjola a trial, and could feel the ingredients of Konjola at work. Day by day my pains became less and less. When I had completed the full treatment of six bottles every vestige of rheumatism had vanished. My inner system began to work properly, the poisons were driven from my body, and today I am feeling stronger and better in every way than I have in years."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

FOOTBALL IN BIG TEN HAS START TODAY

Michigan and Ohio State Start Practice Under New Grid-Iron Coaches.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(INS.)—Western conference football gets away officially today to its annual quest for the coveted championship. This afternoon practice at all the Big Ten universities begins with drills on the fundamentals.

The first week is expected to be taken up by issuing uniforms, locker space and mental instruction. Scrimmage probably will not be resorted to until next week.

With the exception of Michigan university and Ohio State, the head coaches who acted in that capacity last year will return to their posts. The Wolverines will be directed by Harry Kipke, former all-American half-back, and the Buckeyes by Sam Willaman, a former Ohio State player.

WILLAMAN AT O. S. U.

Kipke, who formerly was an assistant coach at Michigan State, succeeds "Tad" Wieman. Willaman replaces Dr. John Wilce.

Illinois, champions of last year, and Minnesota are conceded to have the best chances for the 1929 season.

OHIO MAY TRAIL

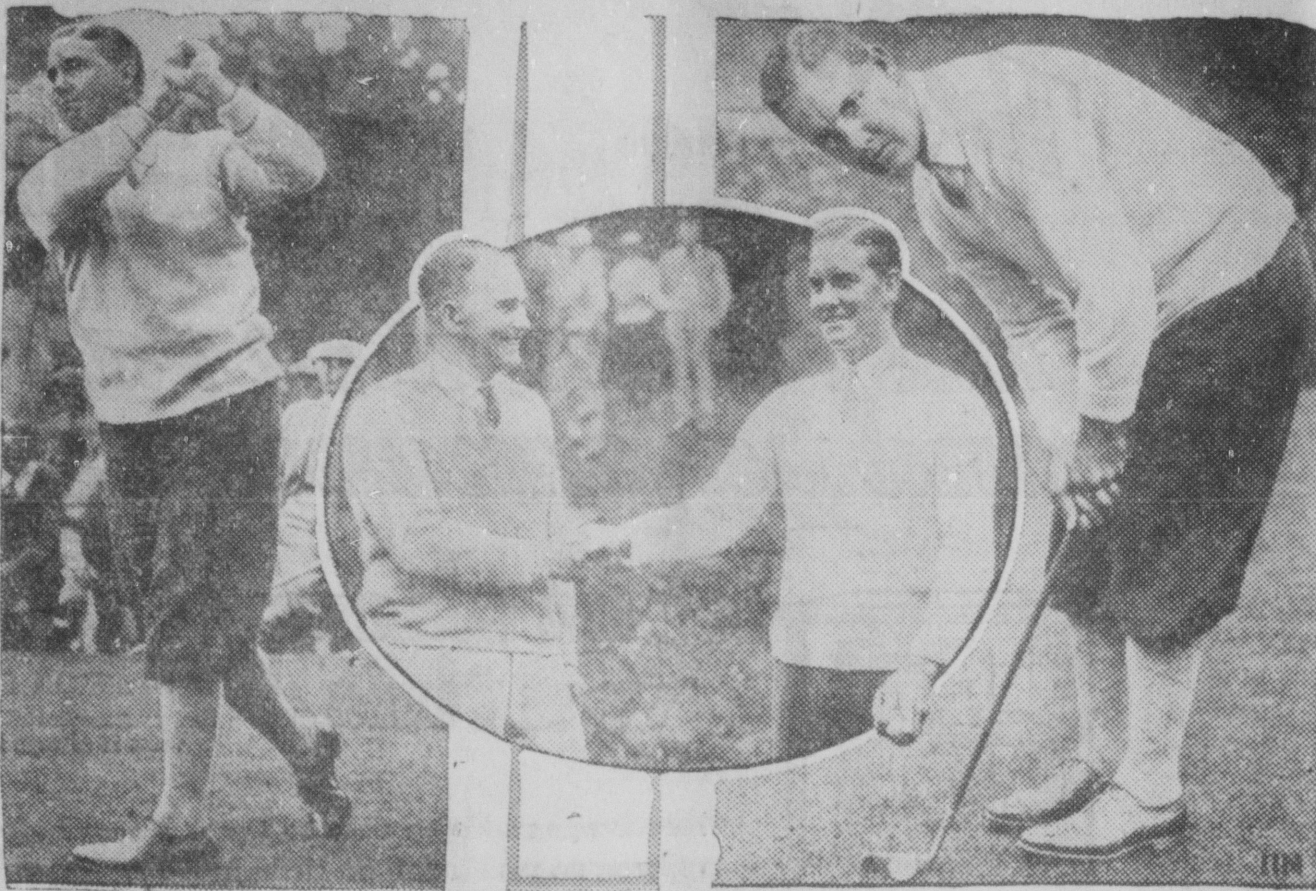

Michigan, Wisconsin, and Northwestern and possibly Indiana loom as outside championship possibilities in present calculations. Iowa, Purdue, Ohio State and Chicago appear to trail the others somewhat, judging from their present material.

Plenty of reserve material and many veterans from last year's squads place Illinois and Minnesota among the most powerful teams in the conference. Wisconsin, despite reports that reserve material is low, figures to be right up with the leaders. Purdue has some excellent backfield material, but the line is reported to be in need of strengthening.

Land of Fig Trees

Mexico has more than 200,000 producing fig trees.

Amateur Champ Shows Grit Winning Title

After fighting his first round opponent to the nineteenth hole before a verdict, Harrison Jimmy Johnson, left, of St. Paul, Minn., is the new amateur golf king. It was in this same first round that Bobby Jones was eliminated. Many will say that had Bobby remained in the tournament that Jimmy would not have won. That's a question. The St. Paul player showed indomitable courage all through his matches. His great shot from the beach on the eighteenth to half the hole to save himself from elimination is enough proof of his calibre. Jimmy's putter, as you see, right, always carried him safely on the greens. Any man who can beat Dr. Willing of Portland, Ore., a wily seasoned fairway veteran, shown, left center, congratulating the winner after the finals at Pebble Beach, Cal., is worthy to wear the amateur crown regardless of Jones.

Word to the Wise Chinese

We learn that China has an area of 4,000,000 square miles and only 80,000 automobiles. What that country ought to do is to start exporting parking space.—Farm Journal.

The annual amount given by the Protestant missionary societies in all countries as reported by the International Missionary Council is $60,000,000. The churches of the U. S. give $35,000,000 and Great Britain $11,000,000. Scotland reports that more than 3,000,000 Scripture portions were issued for China last year. In the absence of missionaries, these portions have been sold mostly by the Chinese themselves, despite the confusion of the civil war.

Chinese and Buddhist missionaries have arrived at the port of New York. They are aiming to spread their gospel in this country and are seeking a campaign fund of $250,000 to accomplish this purpose. They are not being disturbed as were the first Christian missionaries to China.

A movement to introduce religion into the public school system of Chicago will be given a two year test beginning with the fall term and applying only to children of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in three elementary schools. During the try-out period children are to be excused from school an hour a week to attend the religious schools to be set up by the cooperating churches in their distribution of the Council of Religious Education.

FOOTBALL IN BIG TEN HAS START TODAY

Michigan and Ohio State Start Practice Under New Grid-Iron Coaches.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(INS.)—Western conference football gets away officially today to its annual quest for the coveted championship. This afternoon practice at all the Big Ten universities begins with drills on the fundamentals.

The first week is expected to be taken up by issuing uniforms, locker space and mental instruction. Scrimmage probably will not be resorted to until next week.

With the exception of Michigan university and Ohio State, the head coaches who acted in that capacity last year will return to their posts. The Wolverines will be directed by Harry Kipke, former all-American half-back, and the Buckeyes by Sam Willaman, a former Ohio State player.

WILLAMAN AT O. S. U.
Kipke, who formerly was an assistant coach at Michigan State, succeeds "Fat" Wieman. Willaman replaces Dr. John Wilce.

Illinois, champions of last year, and Minnesota are conceded to have the best chances for the 1929 season.

OHIO MAY TRAIL
Michigan, Wisconsin, and Northwestern and possibly Indiana loom as outside championship possibilities in present calculations. Iowa, Purdue, Ohio State and Chicago appear to trail the others somewhat, judging from their present material.

Plenty of reserve material and many veterans from last year's squads place Illinois and Minnesota among the most powerful teams in the conference. Wisconsin, despite reports that reserve material is low, figures to be right up with the leaders. Purdue has some excellent backfield material, but the line is reported to be in need of strengthening.

Land of Fig Trees
Mexico has more than 200,000 producing fig trees.

Amateur Champ Shows Grit Winning Title

After fighting his first round opponent to the nineteenth hole before a verdict, Harrison Jimmy Johnson, left, of St. Paul, Minn., is the new amateur golf king. It was in this same first round that Bobby Jones was eliminated. Many will say that had Bobby remained in the tournament that Jimmy would not have won. That's a question. The St. Paul player showed indomitable courage all through his matches. His great shot from the beach on the eighteenth to half the hole to save himself from elimination is enough proof of his calibre. Jimmy's putter, as you see, right, always carried him safely on the greens. Any man who can beat Dr. Willing of Portland, Ore., a wily seasoned fairway veteran, shown, left center, congratulating the winner after the finals at Pebble Beach, Cal., is worthy to wear the amateur crown regardless of Jones.

Word to the Wise Chinese

We learn that China has an area of 4,000,000 square miles and only 50,000 automobiles. What that country ought to do is to start exporting parking space.—Farm Journal

The annual amount given by the Protestant missionary societies in all countries as reported by the International Missionary Council is $60,000,000. The churches of the U. S. give $35,000,000 and Great Britain $11,000,000. The National Bible Society of Scotland reports that more than 3,000,000 Scripture portions were issued for China last year. In the absence of missionaries, these portions have been sold mostly by the Chinese themselves, despite the confusion of the civil war.

Chinese and Buddhist missionaries have arrived at the port of New York. They are aiming to spread their gospel in this country and are seeking a campaign fund of $250,000 to accomplish this purpose. They are not being disturbed as were the first Christian missionaries to China.

A movement to introduce religion into the public school system of Chicago will be given a two year test beginning with the fall term and applying only to children of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in three elementary schools. During the try-out period children are to be excused from school an hour a week to attend the religious schools to be set up by the cooperating churches in their distribution of the Council of Religious Education.

MRS. MAE LUCKEMIER.

"For three years I was a victim of rheumatism," said Mrs. Mae Luckemier, 3028 Reading road, Cincinnati, Ohio. "The pains started from one place to another, finally settling in one knee. I could not attend to my housework. I was not only in terrible pain, but greatly discouraged, for no medicine or treatment did me any good. 'I gave Konjola a trial, and could feel the ingredients of Konjola at work. Day by day my pains became less and less. When I had completed the full treatment of six bottles every vestige of rheumatism had vanished. My inner system began to work properly, the poisons were driven from my body, and today I am feeling stronger and better in every way than I have in years.'"
